

Yvonne Davidson MA, BA (Hons)
Sitges, Barcelona (Spain)

Nationality: British

Languages: English, Spanish

Qualifications

BA (Hons) Sociology with Professional Studies (Education) North London University. 1984.
MA Education. (0-8 years) Open University. London 1999.
Certificate in Early Years Open University. London 2008.

Work experience

25 years experience in the field of education specializing in the early years, in three different countries.

- Early Years Educator with children aged 2 to 5, helping them to become independent and fluent in two languages in preparation for school.
- Design, development and teaching of multi-intelligence learning programmes in the early years.
- Development of the English programme for the early years. Training teachers to deliver the programme.
- Collaborator and teacher of the audio-visual Project Learning English as Second Language for young learners.

Baby Sensory Spain

I have always been fascinated by Early Years education, dedicating all my professional life to seeking a greater understanding of innovative learning methods and techniques, investigating the findings of recent research studies in education. This is how I discovered Dr. Lin Day's amazing work with babies. I followed very closely the research and development of Dr. Day; the importance of her work and how her Baby Sensory programme helps babies and parents and benefits future learning. And the classes were great fun for everyone!

I decided to introduce the Baby Sensory programme into a different culture and language. Thus Baby Sensory Spain was born with all the illusion of being part of a worldwide innovating project for babies. I am convinced that the fun classes will be a great success with immense benefits for both parents and babies.